How to master your pitch

Microsoft Fabric

The unified data platform for AI transformation

Data Factory

Analytics

Databases

Real-Time
Intelligence

Power BI

Fabric Platform

AI

OneLake

Security & Governance

Pre-requisites for successful Fabric adoption

Data Readiness

SMBs who have fragmented data sources or growing analytics needs.

Fabric shines when customers want a unified data platform.

Cloud Familiarity

Customers already using Azure or Microsoft 365 have higher propensity to adopt Fabric.

Budget-Conscious but Growth-Oriented

SMBs looking for cost-effective solutions that scale with usage.

AI Curiosity

Interest in AI-driven insights or Copilot scenarios is a strong signal.

Governance Needs

SMBs concerned about compliance and security will value Fabric's Purview integration.

How to assess your customer's cloud maturity?

Early Stage: Limited analytics, mostly Excel-based → Position Fabric as a low-barrier entry to modern analytics

Intermediate: Using Power BI or Synapse → Highlight Fabric's seamless migration and OneLake benefits

Advanced: Multi-cloud or hybrid setups → Emphasize Fabric's open lakehouse architecture and governance

Customer signals : Fragmented data, Power BI usage, interest in AI, compliance needs

Business Value

Unified analytics platform for the era of AI

(OneLake = single source of truth)

Cost-effective, scalable, and integrated with Microsoft 365

Built-in governance and security

How to Sell

1. Go-to-market

Use SMB pitch decks and
Campaign-in-a-Box
(available for free)

2. Be Proactive

Promote free trials (60-day
Fabric trial)

3. Be relevant

Run FAIAD workshops

Leverage Microsoft Customer Engagement Methodology: Listen → Inspire → Empower → Realize Value

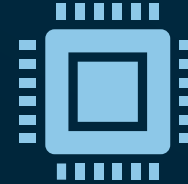

Key Discovery Questions for your Customers

How would you describe your current data strategy?

What percentage of your data estate is clean, connected, and governed well enough to support scalable AI initiatives?

What limitations in your current infrastructure are preventing you from scaling or innovating faster?

How are you enabling your business units with secure, governed, and real-time access to data?

Know Your Audience

COO | CIO | CPO:

AI is transforming business by enhancing customer engagement, product experiences, and operations. To achieve meaningful results, organizations need scalable, clean, and governed data platforms that enable informed decisions by both human and digital agents.

How are you aligning your AI initiatives to your business operations to deliver the right business outcomes?

CDO | CDAO | CDAIO

Bridging AI with business context and scaling requires overcoming legacy system fragmentation and poor data quality. Infrastructure simplification, improving data liquidity and responsibly federated data governance and security is critical.

How are you thinking about modernizing your data estate to support your AI initiatives?

CISO | CIO

Securing data in the AI era demands a unified, scalable platform with encryption, access controls, and contextual security policies. This ensures compliance, protects sensitive data, and enables responsible, secure AI operations.

How do you equip your business units with reliable data and secure tools to drive efficient and compliant operations?

Competitive differentiation

The competitive differentiation of Fabric is its ability to deliver a unified, AI-ready data foundation that simplifies infrastructure, accelerates analytics, and unlocks scalable innovation.

Key Points:

- Deep integration with Microsoft 365, Azure AI, and GitHub Copilot
- Open, lake-centric architecture with OneLake
- First-party support for GCP and Snowflake
- Modernize legacy/compete BI solutions (Qlik, Cognos, Tableau, Strategy) to Fabric
- Governance and security with Microsoft Purview and Azure Databricks Unity Catalog
- Flexible deployment options: turnkey (Fabric) or modular (Databricks, Azure Databases)
